Abuse is any form of mistreatment, including physical, sexual, emotional, or neglect. It can have a devastating impact on a person's life, and it can lead to a variety of health problems, including epilepsy.

The women in this book have faced incredible challenges, but they have never given up. They have fought for their health and their lives, and they have emerged as strong and resilient survivors.

Their stories are a testament to the power of the human spirit. They show that even in the face of adversity, it is possible to overcome and thrive.

Here are some of the stories included in the book:

- Sarah's story: Sarah was diagnosed with epilepsy when she was a child. She was bullied and teased by her classmates, and she often felt isolated and alone. But Sarah never gave up. She went on to graduate from college and become a successful businesswoman. She is now a strong advocate for people with epilepsy.
- Maria's story: Maria was abused by her stepfather for years. She developed epilepsy as a result of the trauma she experienced. But Maria refused to let her abuser define her life. She sought help and therapy, and she is now a thriving survivor. She is a passionate advocate for other survivors of abuse.
- Jessica's story: Jessica was diagnosed with epilepsy when she was a teenager. She was afraid to tell anyone about her condition, because she was afraid of being stigmatized. But Jessica eventually found the courage to speak out. She is now a vocal advocate for people with epilepsy, and she is helping to break down the stigma surrounding the condition.

These are just a few of the many inspiring stories included in this book. These women have shown incredible strength and courage in the face of adversity. Their stories are a reminder that we are all capable of overcoming challenges and living full and happy lives.

If you are struggling with epilepsy or abuse, please know that you are not alone. There are people who care about you and want to help. Please reach out for help. There is hope.
